DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1 -19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. One of ordinary skill in the art would not understand the functionality of the cable on the structure from the limitations of the claims nor from the specification since the applicant lacks the details about the feature on the disclosure.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1 – 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claims 1, 4, 13, 18 and 19 the recitation "dedusting" is unclear and ambiguous since the meaning of the word "dedusting" is not defined by the applicant at the specification in such a way for one of ordinary skill in the art to understand the meaning of the word and associate the word to the claimed apparatus and its function. The examiner believes that applicant means the process wherein the residues are removed and suggests the applicant to utilize a more clear language to define said claimed limitation. Clarification is required.

Claims 1 – 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential structural cooperative relationships of elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the necessary structural connections. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted structural cooperative relationships are: The omitted structural cooperative relationships are: the structural relationship between the dedusting unit, high-voltage duct and wire loop. Applicant fails to explain in a clear manner where is the dedusting unit, high-voltage duct and wire loop in respect with the other so as to one of ordinary skill in the art to understand the structural connections. Clarification is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 – 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Masuda (4,541,848).

Regarding claims 1 and 2, Masuda discloses a dedusting unit for a laser optical element, comprising: a high-voltage duct comprising a high-voltage conducting core having a first end and second end and an insulator element disposed around the core, the first end of the core being connectable to high voltage power supply; and a wire loop electrically connected to the second end of the high-voltage core and the high-voltage duct comprises a coaxial duct (Column 1, lines 1 – 13, 30 – 36 and 44 – 64, Column 2, lines 19 – 33, and Column 6, lines 60 – 64).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Masuda (4,541,848) in view of Pitts, Jr. (5,591,317).

Regarding claim 3¹⁹ Masuda discloses the claimed invention except for a high-voltage duct comprises a cylindrical ceramic tube. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to high-voltage duct comprises a cylindrical ceramic tube, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.
